Email Yourself Receipts

Send digital receipts or invoices to your custom digital receipt email address in order to store, organize, and track spending.

You must first set up and create your own custom Receipts email address (ex. john@digitalreceipts.us). You can do so from the top of your Receipts List, or, if you haven't added any receipts yet, look near the top of the screen for the "Want to add email receipts?" for initial setup of Receipts email.

Simply forward the receipts from your personal email inbox to your custom Receipts email address. Some retailers offer to email you a copy of your receipt. You can give your custom Receipts email address to the cashier, and the receipt will be directly uploaded to your account. For merchants such as Uber or Lyft, you can set up your account to use your yourname@digitalreceipts.us email address. Your receipts will automatically feed in every time you ride.

If you ever forget your Receipts email address, you can find it at the top of the Receipts List.

- Example 1: You purchase an item at a retailer. At the point of sale, you are asked if you want a printed receipt or email receipt. You can give the retailer your custom digital receipt email address (yourname@digitalreceipts.us) and the receipt will appear in your online banking Receipt Capture account.
- Example 2: You receive a receipt or invoice in your personal or work email. You can forward to your custom digital receipt email address and it will appear in your online banking Receipt Capture account.
- Example 3: You receive a receipt or invoice in your personal or work email. You can take a screen shot of the receipt and upload it into your online banking Receipt Capture account by tapping the camera button.
